THE THREATS OF WILDFIRE AND EXTREME WEATHER IN CALIFORNIA ARE REAL.

As a result, California's three largest energy companies, at the direction of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), are coordinating to prepare all Californians for the threat of wildfires and power outages during times of extreme weather. To help protect customers and communities during extreme weather events, electric power may be shut off for public safety in an effort to prevent a wildfire. This is called a Public Safety Power Shutoff.

Shutting Off Power for Safety

As a safety precaution, San Diego Gas & Electric (SDG&E), Southern California Edison (SCE) and Pacific Gas and Electric (PG&E) monitor local fire danger and extreme weather conditions across California and evaluate whether to turn off electric power. The decision and action to turn off power is made by each individual energy company and is based on a combination of factors. Factors include, but are not limited to:

HIGH WINDS
(including Red Flag warnings)

LOW HUMIDITY

DRY VEGETATION
that could serve as fuel

FIRE THREAT
to electric infrastructure

ON-THE-GROUND OBSERVATIONS

PUBLIC SAFETY RISK
